

Subscription Program

Our core program is a weekly subscription with priority membership for people without consistent access to food. We believe everyone has the right to nutritious food. Nobody is turned away for lack of money. When you join the subscription program, you become a member of the bakery. Members participate in the bakery's decision-making and support the bakery's work in various ways. A radical majority of our membership is people of color (at least 60%).

Benefits of Membership

- Receive the bread that you need or want on a weekly basis. Bread can be picked up at the bakery or delivered if needed.
- Help make decisions about how the bakery operates
- Build multi-racial, multi-class and queer-positive community and meet great people
- Learn about baking, food sovereignty, and cooperatives

Responsibilities of Members

- Help the bakery run by giving what you can (money, time, ideas, other things)
- Spend at least one hour every season working with the bakery, in addition to whatever other contributions you make
- Attend at least one membership meeting, visioning dinner or assembly per year

Membership Application

Bread Uprising is a cooperative – those of us who eat the bread and those who bake bread make decisions together about what happens in the bakery and each take part in the work.

We're building a community and a world where every person has the right to food, an economy based in love and solidarity, and a food system that is ecologically just, healing, and sustaining.

About Our Baked Goods

At Bread Uprising, our baked goods are hand-made with love in our approved home kitchen. We use all locally-milled, organic flours, and sustainably-produced, organic and/or local ingredients.

We offer our creations on a sliding scale. We list suggested prices that are affordable for our communities and allow us to pay a living wage to workers & producers. You are welcome to pay more to support our work; and if you are not able to afford the listed price, please talk to us and we will try to meet your needs!

Vegan and gluten-free options are available for most items. We are happy to accommodate food allergies.

Orders can be picked up at the bakery or delivered to locations around the Triangle. We can ship some items via the mail.
